

Prominent doctor's license suspended? ??

Posted by Dian - 14 Jan 2007 23:52

Dear Doc Sarah,

I am new to the forum. I have read numerous posts but wonder if I am behind times on up to date info. I read that Dr. Burton no longer sees arachnoiditis patients and that an alternative would be Dr Aldrete in Florida. I live in Florida and have found on the physicians' site for malpractice that Dr. Aldrete's license was suspended. I hope this info in not correct. If this is true, who would be another doctor to see with expertise on this subject? I hope I am wrong as I was planning on consulting with this doctor. Please advise.Thank you.

=====

Re:Prominent doctor's license suspended? ??

Posted by helen - 18 Jan 2007 16:54

Post edited by: helen, at: 2007/01/18 17:02

=====

Re:Prominent doctor's license suspended? ??

Posted by DocSarah - 12 Feb 2007 21:34

HI sorry to take so long to get back to you, I am snowed under with work and domestic tribulations just now!

I am not sure of your information but you could check with Prof Aldrete's secretary frederika at

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

Regards,

Sarah

=====