

What is happening?

Posted by Catlover1 - 03 Nov 2009 10:54

---

What in the world is going on with me? I have this weird sensation, the best I can describe it is that something is turning off all the power in my legs!!! Almost like a tap, turning off the water flow!!!

It starts with amore than usual pain in my lower back, and then the numbness sets in. I cannot move my legs, and if I try to walk, it is as if I don`t have any legs!

Quite frightening!

Any answers, please?

Oh, I was diagnosed with AA a long time ago.

=====

Re:What is happening?

Posted by helen - 03 Nov 2009 13:26

---

Dear Catlover

I have experienced the sensation of complete paralysis in my legs which lasts for a short period of time. The feeling always comes back. Like you it starts with pain elsewhere, often crushing and very frightening.

I cannot offer any explanation though!

Best wishes Helen

=====

Re: What is happening?

Posted by DocSarah - 04 Nov 2009 13:58

---

new symptoms like this should be checked out by your doctor asap. !

good luck!!!

DocSarah

=====

Re: What is happening?

Posted by Catlover1 - 26 Jan 2010 09:16

---

I have an answer to my problems. Not a good one, but it sounds correct! I had a scope done on my right hip last year, and I saw the ortho. yesterday. Apparantly both my hips are in a terrible state (his words) and I will need a replacement on both hips within the next year or two. That is what is causing the weird feelings I have, the loss of mobility, lower back pain, everything.

When will this ever end? My body is giving up on me and I still have so much to live for!!!

I won't let this slow me down, I will fight this with everything I have!

Keep well,

Elizabeth

=====