

Tarvol Cysts

Posted by DARLA - 25 Jun 2005 03:29

Hello to All,

Could you please tell me if AA aids in the development of Tarlov cysts? I have a small one left of S2 and a 8.8mm one on the right of S2. I need to know what I should do? I have terrible red hot poker pain in my lower back & to my foot for 5-6 months now. Have had a new MRI 5/2005 but neuro dr. didnt mention. He says try to live with it.

I see a PM man on the 27th of this month & hope he will help.

After 22 yrs. how long must I not live in some sort of comfort. Diagnosed 86 with AA and every MRI since except this one which says "no AA". Amazingly, I will be in medical journals.

Thanks for your help,

Darla 😊

=====

Re:Tarvol Cysts

Posted by Kim - 28 Jun 2005 20:36

Hi Darla

Watch this space. Having a real bad time at the moment but hope to get DocSarah answer that for you within a week.

How's that? 😊

Getting a new front page on the website tomorrow so keep having a look.

Bye for now

Kim

●

=====

Re:Tarvol Cysts

Posted by DARLA - 01 Jul 2005 02:42

Thanks Kim,

Hope you are doing alright, as I also am not good and have not been online for awhile. Went to my first (in 22 yrs) PM (who is also a neuro). He was wonderful, he wasn't familiar with Tarlov Cysts (as most drs. are not here at least) but is going to research it for me. Also , he told me I will never be out of pain but he will help me to manage it so that I have some good, ppositive quality of life. He was very encouraging.

He gave me Fentanly 25mcgs to start (as I wanted the lowest dose) and the vicodin for breakthrough.

Unfortunately I should have listened to him and sarterd with the 50 as I am still having to take the vicodin all day & nite still.

I have noticed the pain is different now though. He also perscribed 60 mgs. predisone 3 days and etc down to 1/2. Should take the month.

Thanks again & sorry for the long post but you people have been a God send to me. I don't feel alone anymore.

Thanks for your kindness,

Darla 🍌

Re:Tarvol Cysts

Posted by DARLA - 02 Jul 2005 07:04

Hi, Kim & Doc Sarah,

Today the PM bumped the patch to 50mcgs..Pain is different & about a 6 when relaxing but as soon as I get up, well it's a combination of everything I quess. He's hoping to get my pain level around 3. God Bless this man.

Thanks,

Darla

Re:Tarvol Cysts

Posted by Louise - 08 Jan 2006 13:43

Hello Darla,

After being absent for a little while, I decided to read the new posts. I noticed yours.

I am in contact with a group located in France. They are sufferers of Tarlov Cysts. There is a doctor in France who specializes in this disorder. Professeur Maitrot is his name. You can contact the following email address for more info:

This e-mail address is being protected from spambots. You need JavaScript enabled to view it

. Claudine suffers from this disorder. She is also very kind but suffers a lot from tarlov cysts. She is also active with Tarlov website at: www.tarlovcyst.net. Hope it helps a little bit.

Louise

=====