

This condition is seen in some diabetic patients, but I have also come across a few cases in arachnoiditis patients.

The principal features of this condition include:

- nausea after meals
- vomiting: especially undigested food in the middle of the night/ before breakfast; vomiting food eaten more than 4 hours previously
- bloating
- feeling full after only a few mouthfuls
- loss of appetite